

SUBJOINDER

Meaning: A subjoinder is a legal document or motion that adds additional claims or parties to an existing case, often to clarify responsibilities or address new issues raised during proceedings.

1. The lawyer submitted a subjoinder to address the additional claims raised by the opposing party.
2. In legal proceedings, a subjoinder can clarify the responsibilities of multiple defendants involved in a case.
3. The judge considered the subjoinder carefully before making a ruling on the admissibility of the new evidence.
4. After reviewing the initial complaint, the attorney decided that a subjoinder was necessary to strengthen their argument.
5. The concept of subjoinder allows for the efficient consolidation of related legal issues within a single proceeding.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/subjoinder>