

SUBSTANTIATION

Meaning: Substantiation refers to the act of providing evidence or support to validate a claim or theory.

1. The researchers provided substantial substantiation for their claims through rigorous experimentation.
2. Without proper substantiation, the theory remained nothing more than a hypothesis.
3. Legal documents often require substantiation to validate the evidence presented in court.
4. The scientist emphasized the importance of substantiation in drawing reliable conclusions from the data.
5. She sought substantiation for her argument by referencing credible sources and studies.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/substantiation>