

SUBTYPICAL

Meaning: Subtypical refers to characteristics or features that are typical of a specific subtype, particularly in relation to a broader category, such as subtropical conditions or traits.

1. The study revealed that the species displayed subtropical characteristics, despite being classified as subtropical.
2. In his analysis, he noted that the climate patterns were subtropical, influencing the local flora and fauna significantly.
3. The subtropical conditions in the region allowed for a diverse range of plant life to thrive.
4. Researchers discovered subtropical variations in the ecosystem that had not been documented previously.
5. Her findings suggest that the subtropical climate plays a crucial role in shaping migration patterns of local bird species.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/subtypical>