

TAUTEGORICAL

Meaning: Tautegorical refers to a quality of being self-referential or circular in reasoning, where a statement or argument inherently refers back to itself.

1. The tautegorical nature of his argument left little room for doubt.
2. In her tautegorical analysis, she proved that every statement was self-referential.
3. The philosopher's tautegorical approach challenged traditional perspectives on language.
4. His tautegorical explanations often led to more questions than answers.
5. She appreciated the tautegorical elements in the poem, finding deeper meanings within the text.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/tautegorical>