TELOTYPE

Meaning: Teletype refers to a machine that enables the transmission of typed messages over long distances, commonly used for communication and news dissemination.

1. The teletype machine revolutionized communication by allowing typed messages to be sent over long distances.
2. Journalists in the mid-20th century relied heavily on teletype for instant news transmission.
3. The old teletype printer still sits in the corner of the newsroom, a relic of a bygone era.
4. In the age of digital communication, few remember the importance of the teletype in delivering real-time updates.
5. He carefully typed his message into the teletype, ensuring every word was clear and concise.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/telotype