

TEPIDITY

Meaning: Tepidity refers to a lack of warmth or enthusiasm, often resulting in a lukewarm or indifferent quality.

1. The tepidity of the tea left much to be desired, as it failed to warm her spirits on the chilly morning.
2. His tepidity in response to the exciting news disappointed his friends, who expected a more enthusiastic reaction.
3. The debate lacked passion, characterized more by tepidity than by the fervor one would hope for in such a heated topic.
4. She approached the project with a sense of tepidity, unsure if her heart was truly in it or if she was merely going through the motions.
5. The film's tepidity was reflected in its lukewarm reviews, with critics noting the lack of compelling moments.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/tepidity>