

TERATOGENY

Meaning: Teratogeny is the process through which congenital malformations are induced in an embryo or fetus.

1. Teratogeny refers to the process by which congenital malformations are produced in an embryo or fetus.
2. Certain medications have been found to have teratogenic effects, leading to significant birth defects.
3. Researchers are studying the teratogeny associated with various environmental toxins during pregnancy.
4. Understanding the mechanisms of teratogeny is crucial for developing safer prenatal care guidelines.
5. The teratogeny observed in animal models has helped scientists predict potential risks for human development.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/teratogeny>