

TERMINABLE

Meaning: Terminable refers to something that can be ended or terminated, often in the context of contracts or agreements.

1. The contract was deemed terminable after both parties failed to meet the agreed-upon conditions.
2. In many employment agreements, there are terminable clauses that allow for early dismissal under certain circumstances.
3. The lease was structured as a terminable arrangement, giving the tenant flexibility to move out with proper notice.
4. Due to unforeseen circumstances, the project was declared terminable, leading to a review of all ongoing commitments.
5. Investors were cautious about the terminable nature of the partnership, focusing on long-term stability instead.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/terminable>