TIRING-HOUSE

Meaning: A tiring-house is a room or area in a theater where actors change costumes and prepare for performances.

1. The old tiring-house at the theatre was filled with costumes and props from past performances.

2. Actors often found solace in the quiet corners of the tiring-house between their scenes.

3. During the renovation, the tiring-house was transformed into a modern space for rehearsals and meetings.

4. The tiring-house served as a crucial hub for the cast, where they could prepare and unwind before going on stage.

5. In the bustling tiring-house, the energy of creativity and camaraderie was palpable among the performers.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/tiring-house