

TORPOR

Meaning: Torpor is a state of physical or mental inactivity and reduced energy, often characterized by lethargy or sluggishness.

1. The long winter months left the bear in a state of torpor, barely stirring from its den.
2. After a night of celebration, he awoke in a state of torpor, struggling to shake off the lingering effects of fatigue.
3. The team's poor performance in the second half was attributed to a torpor that seemed to grip them as the game progressed.
4. As the heat of summer settled in, the once vibrant park fell into a quiet torpor, with few visitors braving the sweltering sun.
5. She felt a sense of torpor wash over her during the long lecture, making it difficult to focus on the professor's words.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/torpor>