TRADUCIANISM

Meaning: Traducianism is the theological belief that the human soul is inherited from one's parents rather than being created individually by God.

1. Traducianism posits that the soul is inherited from one's parents rather than created by God.

2. Many theologians debate the merits of traducianism in relation to creationism.

3. Traducianism offers a unique perspective on the origin of the human soul in contrast to other philosophical views.

4. The concept of traducianism can be traced back to early Christian thinkers who sought to explain human nature.

5. Critics of traducianism argue that it undermines the belief in the divine origin of each individual soul.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/traducianism