

TRANSELEMENTATION

Meaning: Transelementation is the process of transforming one chemical element into another through specific conditions or reactions.

1. Transelementation is a complex process that involves the transformation of elements under specific conditions.
2. The researchers studied transelementation to better understand how different materials interact at a molecular level.
3. In the realm of quantum physics, transelementation can lead to groundbreaking discoveries about atomic structures.
4. The concept of transelementation challenges our traditional perceptions of matter and its transformations.
5. Her thesis on transelementation explored its potential applications in sustainable energy solutions.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/transelementation>