

TRAWL

Meaning: Trawl: to search through (a large amount of information or a specific area) in order to find something, or to fish by dragging a net through water.

1. She decided to trawl through the archives for any documents related to the project.
2. The fisherman prepared to trawl the deep sea for shrimp at dawn.
3. In her research, she had to trawl numerous databases to find the information she needed.
4. He would often trawl the internet late at night, searching for rare collectibles.
5. As a journalist, she learned to trawl for stories in the most unexpected places.
6. After a long day at sea, the fishermen returned to the dock with their nets full, having trawled the ocean for the freshest catch.
7. The detective decided to trawl through the evidence again, hoping to find a clue that had been overlooked.
8. To prepare for her presentation, she had to trawl through numerous articles and studies to gather the most relevant information.
9. During the seminar, the expert advised attendees to trawl the internet for various perspectives on the controversial topic.
10. The team agreed to trawl the archives for any documentation that might shed light on the historical event.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/trawl>