

TRIDECATOIC

Meaning: Tridecatoic refers to a type of fatty acid or compound that contains a thirteen-carbon chain, often studied for its chemical properties in organic chemistry.

1. The chemist was fascinated by the properties of tridacatoic acid in his latest research.
2. During the seminar, the professor explained the significance of tridacatoic compounds in organic chemistry.
3. Tridacatoic structures are often studied for their potential applications in nanotechnology.
4. In her thesis, she explored the synthesis of tridacatoic derivatives and their biological activity.
5. The discovery of tridacatoic molecules has opened new avenues in medicinal chemistry.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/tridecatoic>