TRILITERAL

Meaning: Triliteral refers to a word or root that is formed from three consonantal letters, commonly found in Semitic languages.

1. The term 'trilateral' often refers to agreements involving three parties, but 'triliteral' specifically pertains to a word formed from three consonants.

2. In many Semitic languages, the root of a word is typically triliteral, consisting of three consonantal letters.

3. Understanding triliteral roots can greatly enhance one’s grasp of Arabic vocabulary and syntax.

4. The linguist presented a fascinating lecture on how triliteral structures influence the formation of verbs in Hebrew.

5. When studying triliteral words, it's essential to consider how the arrangement of consonants can alter meaning.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/triliteral