

TUBICINATE

Meaning: Tubicinate refers to a group of marine organisms characterized by their tubular, often chitinous structures, commonly found in environments like oceans or freshwater.

1. The scientist examined the tubicinate structures under the microscope for her research on marine biology.
2. Tubicinate organisms often exhibit fascinating adaptations that allow them to thrive in diverse environments.
3. During the expedition, the team discovered a new species of tubicinate worm that had never been documented before.
4. The intricate patterns formed by tubicinate creatures can be mesmerizing and have inspired many artists.
5. In his lecture, the professor explained the ecological role of tubicinate species in coral reef ecosystems.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/tubicinate>