

UNBOWEL

Meaning: Unbowel (verb): To remove the internal organs or innards from a body, particularly in a surgical or ritualistic context.

1. The surgeon was careful not to unbowel the delicate tissue during the operation.
2. In the ancient texts, unboweling was a method used to describe the removal of a person's innards.
3. The chef's intricate preparation involved techniques that seemed almost unboweling to the untrained eye.
4. During the ritual, participants believed that to unbowel the offerings was to appease the gods.
5. In her vivid dream, the act of unboweling took on a surreal quality, blending reality with fantasy.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/unbowel>