

UNDERFURNISH

Meaning: Underfurnish: to furnish a space with inadequate or insufficient furniture, resulting in a sparse or empty appearance.

1. The minimalist design in the living room felt underfurnished, leaving the space looking sparse and uninviting.
2. Despite its large size, the office appeared underfurnished with just a desk and a single chair.
3. She decided to add a few more pieces to her underfurnished apartment to create a cozier atmosphere.
4. The underfurnished dining area lacked the warmth of a well-decorated space, making meals feel less enjoyable.
5. Real estate experts advised that an underfurnished home can often feel more spacious, but it might deter potential buyers.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/underfurnish>