

UNDERPAY

Meaning: Underpay means to pay someone less than what is considered fair or appropriate for their work or services.

1. Many employees feel they are underpaid for the amount of work they do.
2. The company has been criticized for its tendency to underpay interns and part-time workers.
3. In an effort to cut costs, some organizations choose to underpay their staff, leading to high turnover rates.
4. He decided to leave his job after realizing that he was consistently underpaying himself by accepting lower wages.
5. Labor advocates are pushing for legislation to prevent employers from underpaying their workers based on their backgrounds.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/underpay>