

UNDERVALUATION

Meaning: Undervaluation refers to the assessment of an asset or company at a lower value than its true worth, often leading to missed investment opportunities.

1. The company's undervaluation in the market attracted the attention of several potential investors.
2. Experts believe that the recent economic downturn has led to the undervaluation of many promising startups.
3. Her art was often subject to undervaluation, despite its growing recognition in the contemporary scene.
4. Undervaluation of employees' contributions can significantly affect morale and productivity in the workplace.
5. Investors should be cautious, as undervaluation can sometimes signal underlying financial issues within a company.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/undervaluation>