

UNHEAD

Meaning: Unhead (verb): To render someone or something unable to speak, often through a magical or supernatural means.

1. The ancient text referred to a creature that was said to be unhead, forever losing its ability to speak.
2. In the fantasy novel, the hero faced a sorcerer who had the power to unhead his enemies, rendering them speechless.
3. Many myths describe beings that can unhead their foes, trapping their souls in eternal silence.
4. The artist depicted a figure in agony, as if it had been unheaded by its own thoughts and fears.
5. To be unhead in this context means to lose one's voice in a world that demands constant expression.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/unhead>