

UNHOARD

Meaning: Unhoard: to remove or dispose of accumulated items or possessions in order to reduce clutter or simplify one's living space.

1. She decided to unhoard her collection of books, donating those she no longer read to the local library.
2. In an effort to declutter, he began to unhoard items that had been gathering dust in the attic for years.
3. The community center organized a workshop to encourage people to unhoard and share their unused supplies with others.
4. After realizing how much space she was wasting, Maria vowed to unhoard her kitchen cabinets and simplify her cooking tools.
5. They felt a sense of liberation as they chose to unhoard their sentimental belongings, letting go of what no longer served them.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/unhoard>