

UROCHROME

Meaning: Urochrome is a pigment that gives urine its yellow color, with its concentration varying based on hydration levels.

1. Urochrome is the pigment responsible for the yellow color of urine.
2. The concentration of urochrome in urine can vary depending on hydration levels.
3. Researchers study urochrome to better understand renal function and hydration status.
4. Abnormal levels of urochrome may indicate underlying health issues that require attention.
5. Dietary factors can also influence the concentration of urochrome in an individual's urine.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/urochrome>