

VENTRILOQUOUS

Meaning: Ventriloquous refers to the ability to speak without moving the lips, often creating the illusion that another person or object is speaking.

1. The ventriloquous performer amazed the audience with his ability to make it seem as if his puppet was speaking independently.
2. She had a unique talent for ventriloquous speech, often leaving listeners unable to determine where her voice was coming from.
3. During the talent show, his ventriloquous act stole the spotlight, showcasing both humor and impressive skill.
4. Her ventriloquous skills allowed her to engage the crowd in a way that was both entertaining and memorable.
5. Many aspiring comedians wish to master the art of ventriloquous dialogue to enhance their routines and connect with their audience.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/ventriloquous>