

VERDIGRIS

Meaning: Verdigris is a greenish-blue pigment or patina that forms on copper or bronze due to oxidation, often associated with age and elegance.

1. The artist chose verdigris as the perfect color to evoke a sense of age and elegance in her painting.
2. After years of exposure to the elements, the copper roof developed a beautiful layer of verdigris.
3. The antique statue was admired not only for its craftsmanship but also for its stunning verdigris patina.
4. In the restoration process, they decided to preserve the verdigris finish rather than strip it away.
5. Verdigris, a green pigment derived from copper, has been used in art for centuries.
6. The artist chose verdigris to add a vibrant touch to the landscape painting.
7. After years of exposure to the elements, the copper statue developed a beautiful layer of verdigris.
8. In ancient times, verdigris was prized for its striking green hue in various artworks.
9. She admired the verdigris patina on the antique jewelry, which gave it a unique character.
10. The restoration expert carefully removed the verdigris from the sculpture to reveal its original finish.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/verdigris>