

VILIPEND

Meaning: VILIPEND (verb): to regard or treat with contempt or to belittle.

1. The critic did not hesitate to vilipend the film, calling it a tedious rehash of clichés.
2. In a fit of anger, she began to vilipend her former colleague's work, undermining his achievements.
3. His tendency to vilipend others often left him isolated in social settings.
4. Despite the public's tendency to vilipend politicians, she believed in the importance of constructive dialogue.
5. The article aimed to vilipend the injustices faced by marginalized communities, sparking a national conversation.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/vilipend>