

VOIDING

Meaning: Voiding refers to the act of nullifying or invalidating something, such as a contract, warranty, or potential conflicts.

1. The committee is focused on voiding any potential conflicts of interest in the new policy.
2. She was determined to avoid voiding her warranty by making unauthorized repairs.
3. The judge emphasized the importance of voiding any agreements that were made under duress.
4. His quick thinking helped in voiding the errors that could have led to a serious mistake.
5. The software update included a feature for voiding transactions that were processed incorrectly.
6. The contract was deemed invalid due to the voiding of several key clauses.
7. She felt a sense of relief after voiding her subscription to the service that no longer met her needs.
8. The court's decision on voiding the agreement was based on a lack of mutual consent.
9. His actions led to the voiding of the warranty on the expensive electronic device.
10. They were surprised to learn that voiding the ticket was possible under certain circumstances.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/voiding>