

WEEPING-RIPE

Meaning: Weeping-ripe refers to fruit, particularly peaches, that are fully mature and juicy, often dripping with juice or nectar, indicating they are ready for harvest.

1. The weeping-ripe peaches hung heavily from the branches, ready to be harvested.
2. As she walked through the orchard, the scent of weeping-ripe fruit filled the air with sweetness.
3. He could tell the weeping-ripe berries were at their peak, bursting with flavor and color.
4. The gardener smiled, knowing that the weeping-ripe tomatoes would make a delicious sauce for dinner.
5. With the summer sun setting, the garden was aglow with the golden hues of weeping-ripe melons.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/weeping-ripe>