

WORTH

Meaning: WORTH (noun): The value or merit of something, often expressed in terms of monetary or personal significance.

1. The antique vase was finally appraised and deemed to be worth a small fortune.
2. She believed her time and effort were worth more than just a paycheck.
3. In the end, it was the experience gained that was worth far more than the prize itself.
4. He realized that the memories created with friends were worth more than any material possession.
5. Investing in education is often worth the effort, as it opens up numerous opportunities.
6. The painting was finally sold for a price that reflected its true worth.
7. She believed that hard work was worth more than any amount of money.
8. After years of saving, he realized that the dream home was worth the wait.
9. The advice she received from her mentor was worth its weight in gold.
10. They debated whether the risks of the investment were worth the potential rewards.
11. The old painting was finally appraised and deemed to be worth a fortune.
12. She believed that every experience, whether good or bad, was worth the lesson learned.
13. After careful consideration, he decided that the risk was worth taking for the potential reward.
14. The effort she put into the project was worth it when she received such positive feedback.
15. In the end, the memories they created were worth far more than the money spent.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/worth>